The Who is Who in International Protection in the EU+ project

Who is Who is a mapping project of various stakeholders and their roles in asylum and reception systems at the European, national and local levels. The key actors and their roles are presented as defined in national policies and legislation and implemented in practice. The different competences and interlinks between actors are also outlined.

The information is available online on the Who is Who platform:

<https://whoiswho.euaa.europa.eu/>

Methodology

The Who is Who project follows the same methodology that is used for the EUAA Asylum Report. Accordingly, the Information and Analysis Sector undertakes desk research based on publicly-available sources and EUAA reports. The information is validated by Member States and other stakeholders, if applicable.

The information in this report has been reviewed and validated by the UNHCR Liaison Office to the EUAA and EU Member States.

The United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees

The United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), established in 1950, is a multilateral intergovernmental institution which operates as a subsidiary organ under the United Nations General Assembly.

Embedded in international law, UNHCR's mandate stems from the 1951 Refugee Convention and the 1967 Protocol relating to the Status of Refugees. Its core responsibilities include providing international protection and humanitarian assistance, and seeking durable solutions for refugees, returnees and stateless persons. UNHCR is also legally entitled to directly intercede on behalf of refugees and stateless persons who would otherwise lack legal representation.

As part of its core mandate, UNHCR has a supervisory role in ensuring compliance with treaty obligations, including through monitoring and reporting. In line with Article 35 of the 1951 Refugee Convention, state parties to the Convention have a duty to cooperate with UNHCR and to facilitate its supervisory responsibilities, including through the provision of relevant information

The role of UNHCR is also reflected in the legal instruments conforming the Common European Asylum System (CEAS). The recast Qualification Directive, for example, highlights the usefulness of consultations with UNHCR for first instance determination. Most notably, Article 29 of the recast Asylum Procedures Directive specifies that UNHCR should have access to applicants; to information on individual applications and decisions; and to present its views at any stage of the procedure. Applicants' right to communicate with UNHCR at any stage of the asylum procedure is also spelled out in Article 12 of the recast Asylum Procedures Directive.

UNHCR cooperates with national governments, and its specific functions vary from country to country in accordance with the collaboration agreements in place. The agency is currently present in 135 countries, where it conducts activities in partnership with national authorities, civil society organisations, the private sector and refugee communities.

UNHCR in EU+ countries

The work of UNHCR in Europe is coordinated by the Regional Bureau for Europe based in Geneva. UNHCR is operational in all EU+ countries, maintaining a significant presence in the region with 22 country offices and 4 regional representations or multi-country offices.

Additionally, through its Representations to European Institutions in Brussels and Strasbourg, and its Liaison Offices to the EUAA and Frontex, UNHCR works closely with the European Union on issues related to international protection.

This overview presents UNHCR's activities and priorities across EU+ countries, mapping the agency's specific role in asylum procedures.

Key findings

- ✓ UNHCR is actively involved in first instance determination procedures in Italy and Spain and provides cross-cutting support to asylum procedures in 15 countries. In Spain, UNHCR's involvement ranges from having an advisory role to national authorities, assisting in preparatory works for legislation and policies, disseminating guidelines and country of origin information (COI) and providing legal assistance to applicants for international protection.
- ✓ The agency provides information to applicants and beneficiaries of international protection in all EU+ countries.
- ✓ UNHCR is also involved in second instance procedures in 7 EU+ countries. This includes working with the judiciary in support of selection procedures, training judges or directly intervening in judicial proceedings at national and European levels.
- ✓ UNHCR supports monitoring and quality assurance activities in 27 EU+ countries, with the aim of strengthening asylum systems. Additionally, the agency supports capacity-building of national authorities in 23 EU+ countries, including through the delivery of training and the provision of technical assistance.
- ✓ As the main stakeholder in charge of identifying and referring refugees for resettlement consideration, UNHCR supports the implementation of resettlement programmes in 17 EU+ countries.
- ✓ UNHCR has an active advocacy role across all EU+ countries.
